

I wish the politicians would not be permitted by law to accept any contributions from any person or company with a financial interest related to the legal process of vetoing or enacting a law, either openly owning or ownership disguised by other concocted titles, trusts, relatives, or foreign registered companies